

The Market History

Rutland Farms began offering a primitive You-Pick strawberry patch in 1998 to provide the local community with fresh fruit they could harvest themselves. In the winter of 2000, the original “Strawberry House” was constructed to house a new product line of jellies, world famous homemade ice cream and a more diverse produce selection. The simple shed served as a welcome station to visitors for several years and as a landmark for travelers seeking a taste of country life. In the spring of 2011, construction for a new 4000 square foot facility, The Market at Rutland Farms, broke ground.

Now, locals and visitors alike can enjoy visiting the farm and purchasing a variety of fresh vegetables, fruits, nuts, and other locally produced specialties, including our jams and ice cream. In addition to the items grown on our farm, we partner with other like-minded growers and artisans in our area to provide a wonderful variety of seasonal produce and specialty items. And, our new online store offers folks a chance to order non-perishables year-round!

We continue to evolve to meet the needs of our guests while remaining committed to preserving the land and heritage for future generations. It was true in 1916 and remains true today, with three of the five generations of ownership still working side-by-side, Rutland Farms is
